It may not be out of place to present a final summation of the results attained by the meteorological student iu the investigation ofthat part of the arid lands comprehended within the territorial limits of Arizona. They are these: (1) Twice each year there occurs sufficient aqueous precipitation in Arizona to reclaim every acre of land worthy of such reclamation., (2) The coefficient of evaporation though absolutely high yet is relatively so small in comparison with the total fluid contents of the actual and projected storage basins that it may be economically disregarded as a vanishing quantity. (3) A measureless amount of foot-pounds of available power is daily going to waste in the winds which blow over the land. This power rendered efficient by wind motors will suffice to utilize the large subterranean rivers which...
