Mexican Boundary, ii. p. 17. This exceedingly distinct species has been commonly spoken of as the Grey Fox or the Virginian Pox; but as it is a widely different animal from the true fox, we have preferred to denote it by a native name, rather than employ a trivial one which we deem misleading. Indeed, this species appears to us to have affinities rather with the South-American Canidæ than with its other Nearctic congeners, all of which latter species and varieties are closely allied to, where they are not specifically identical with, the Common Fox of Europe and Northern Asia. Though spoken of as a Virginian animal, it...
